

Yasmine Kamal Hassan

Faculty of Economics and Political Science

E-mail: yasmine_k@feeps.edu.eg

Mobile phone: 01225660565

PERSONAL DATA

Female, Egyptian

Date of birth: 1-August-1990

128 Gisir El Suez Street

CURRENT POSITION

Assistant Lecturer, Faculty of Economics and Political Science, Cairo University (Economics Dept.)

EDUCATION

- Ph.D. candidate, Faculty of Economics and Political Science, Cairo University. Thesis entitled: The impact of Technical Barriers to Trade on Export Margins: Evidence from Egypt's Firm-Level Data.
- AL-Maktoum College of Higher Education Summer School, Dundee, Scotland (2015), Study topics included civilizational dialogue, Scottish history and culture, globalisation and multiculturalism, Muslim women and leadership.
- Master's degree (2015), Faculty of Economics and Political Science, Cairo University. Thesis entitled: Determinants of Export Diversification: An Empirical Application on the Egyptian Economy.
- Bachelor of Economics (2011), Faculty of Economics and Political Science, Economics Department, English Section, Minor Statistics, Cairo University (Excellent Honours, 1st of faculty).
- High School Diploma Math Department (2007), B-Karnak Language School.

TEACHING ACTIVITIES

Undergraduate Courses: Intermediate Microeconomics, Intermediate Macroeconomics, International Economics, Managerial Economics, Money and Banking, Principles of Microeconomics, Principles of Macroeconomics, Readings in Economics.

PUBLICATIONS

Kamal, Y. and Zaki, C., 2018. How Do Technical Barriers to Trade Affect Exports? Evidence from Egyptian Firm-Level Data. Journal of Economic Integration, 33(4), 659-721.

FIELDS OF INTEREST

International Trade, Microeconomics, Industrial Economics.

LANGUAGES

Arabic (mother tongue), Excellent in English, Fair in French.

COMPUTER SKILLS

E-views, STATA, Minitab, Word, Excel, PowerPoint.